

SEARCH

SU

Log In

Alerts

Mobile

Submit a Tip

71°

Like 141k

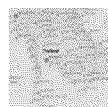

f

SAVE $67/MO
SHOWTIME
 INCLUDED FOR A YEAR
$29.99 each for 12 mos when bundled*
 GET OUR BEST OFFER >

NEWS WEATHER LOCAL VIDEO ON TV SCHOOL SUPPLY DWI PRE-OWNED AUTOS MARKETPLACE

NOWCAST Watch KOAT Action 7 News On Demand

BREAKING NEWS

Police deal with active bomb near Bangkok

Video 4min

The Weather Channel

Prime Time What Just Happened

Home / New Mexico News

By Matt Howerton

EPA says it misjudged Animas spill, apologizes

Sediment from Colorado

UPDATED 10:15 PM MDT Aug 08,

VIRAL VIDEOS

WEATHER

Share 2.6k

Tweet 40

+1 2

NEXT STORY

Interstate 40

reopened after fatal crash

Advertising

New Rule Leaves Drivers Surprised

 Why did no one tell drivers about this new rule? If you drive less than 35 miles per day, you better read this...

Read More

MOST POPULAR

SLIDESHOWS STORIES VIDEOS

1. See Who Got Arrested

2. 10 foods to bust belly fat, 10 foods to avoid

3. Your body's 10 weirdest health clues

4. Photos: 25 facts about methamphetamine

From the web

 ■ Wipe out credit card interest payments within 5 minutes by doing this NextAdvisor

 ■ Prepare For Social Security Cuts In 2016: Here's Why
Stansberry Research

 ■ America in 2017: Buffett's Bold Prediction
The Motley Fool

Sponsored Links by Taboola

FOLLOW US ON GOOGLE+

Advertising

DENVER — A mine spill in Colorado that filled the Animas River with mustard-colored muck has reached Farmington and parts of the Navajo Nation.

Federal environmental officials said the muck that surged into the river from the mine contained heavy metals, including lead and arsenic, but they didn't immediately discuss amounts or health risks.

The Environmental Protection Agency said the spill also contained cadmium, aluminum, copper and calcium.

EPA Regional Director Shaun McGrath did not mention whether the elements posed a health hazard, but he said local authorities were right to close the Animas River to human activities.

An EPA crew accidentally unleashed 1 million gallons of wastewater from the mine Wednesday that flowed into the river through a tributary.

RELATED

- Ban lifted on use of Animas River
- Farmer hopes for miracle as EPA water deliveries roll in
- Veteran with medical pot license fired from hospital

☐ Remembering Cosmo:
Lion saved from meth lab in 2004

☐ VIDEO: $3,200 trumpet
swiped from ABQ store

McGrath says the crew was trying to treat draining waste at the abandoned Gold King Mine in Southwestern Colorado when the workers inadvertently unplugged the waste.

Gov. Susana Martinez toured the contaminated river on Saturday and bashed EPA officials for not warning the state about the spill promptly.

Officials from New Mexico's Environmental Health Department say they didn't hear about the spill until Action 7 News started asking questions, and that an EPA official didn't call them at least 24 hours after the spill.

McGrath says the EPA is taking full responsibility for the blunder.

"We misjudged, and this is something that I'm owning up to," McGrath said. "The message was a day delayed and we do apologize for that."

Officials are still waiting on samples from the contaminated water to see what effects it could have on wildlife or people.

Right now, McGrath says the EPA doesn't even know what's exactly in the plume and are awaiting to see if toxic materials such as arsenic or lead are even in it.

If they are, McGrath says the EPA will have to monitor the river for the foreseeable future. The materials could possibly float to the bottom of the river and get flushed back up when it rains, according to McGrath.

McGrath has said no personnel have been disciplined as a result of the spill.

He says there were four crew members present at the time of the spill and that most of them were contracted employees while the EPA supervised and gave direction.

The Animas River is popular with boaters and anglers and runs into New Mexico.

Farmington officials warned residents who use wells in the floodplain of the Animas and San Juan rivers to avoid using their wells for drinking, cooking or bathing until tests have been completed.

Those who are unclear of the location of their wells or the floodplain can find maps at the San Juan County Emergency Operations website.

Free testing will be available at the San Juan County Fair on Monday.

Two potable water stations have been established in Farmington. They are located at these locations:

- Farmington Fire Station No. 6, 3101 W. Main St.
- Sycamore Park Community Center, 1051 Sycamore St.

The hours for the stations will be from 8 a.m. to 8 p.m. beginning Sunday until further notice.

Residents should bring their own water containers to fill. Large tanks are not permitted.

City officials reminded residents that city water remains safe to drink.

Water troughs are also available at Berg/Animas Park to accommodate domestic animals and wildlife.

Share 2.6k Tweet 40  1  2

Copyright 2015 by KOAT.com. The Associated Press contributed to this report. All rights reserved. This material may not be published, broadcast, rewritten or redistributed.

TAGS Mine Spill Colorado Sediment Heavy Metals Contamination Farmington Health

KOAT

Follow

+1

+ 3,375

Advertising

Comments

Print

Advertising

Offers from Around the Web

Ads by Adblade

3 Death Foods to Avoid. Are These Foods Killing You From The Inside?

Nucific

US government restricting the right to use cash. Could become much worse...

Bonner & Partners

Americans can't believe that new site is legal. Search your name before it gets banned!

Instant Checkmate

RECOMMENDED

FROM KOAT

- Driver dies after serious crash near University, I-40
KOAT.com
- Missing 19-year-old's body found in Animas River
KOAT.com
- Woman's body found in middle of 4th Street
KOAT.com
- Police: 21-year-old confesses to killing sister
KOAT.com
- Police: RR officer shot 3 times Monday night
KOAT.com
- I-40 lanes reopen after semi rollover
KOAT.com

FROM AROUND THE WEB

Promoted Links by Taboola

Wipe out credit card interest payments within 5 minutes b...

[NextAdvisor]

Prepare For Social Security Cuts In 2016: Here's Why

[Stansberry Research]

America in 2017: Buffett's Bold Prediction

[The Motley Fool]

COMMENTS

The views expressed are not those of this site, this station or its affiliated companies. By posting your comments you agree to accept our terms of use.

115 Comments

1 Comment

Recommend

Share

Sort by Best

Join the discussion...

JimB · 10/17/2015 · 10:00 AM

Stand back folks, just another fine example of Obama's EPA at work here

Like · Reply · Share

Fred Rose · 10/17/2015 · 10:00 AM

Jim: The EPA is not new to Obama's Administration it has been around a long time. I even bet that the people in the field that screwed up where there before Obama came into office.

Like · Reply · Share

Merrill McCollum · 10/17/2015 · 10:00 AM

I get your point, Fred. However, it's hard to choke down how many Agency's that were already established before the President's tenure that have totally gone rogue, or completely incompetent. Established laws blatantly ignored from the top... IRS, VA, EPA, STATE, SECRET SERVICE... And so on and so on... Sorry, with so many Agency discrepancies and legal improprieties, it's clear to me, attention to detail or law has not been a cornerstone of this administration. Failures like these definitely are failures from the top.

Latest from KOAT

News

Weather

u local

On TV

FEATURED

2 pedestrians struck in Northeast ABQ

WATCH

WEATHER

71°

Albuquerque, NM

Alerts (0)

Closings (0)

Radar

MORE

LATEST HEADLINES

Police deal with active bomb near Bangkok shrine 4min

Police are sealing off the scene of a blast near a popular Hindu shrine in central Bangkok because a bomb in the area remains active and needs to be defused, police at the scene told CNN on Monday. Bomb squad members in blast suits responded to the a... Read More »

U.S. reporter in Iran to learn verdict soon 9min

Indonesia plane crash: Debris in remote area 30min

Hundreds flee raging flames in 4 states 54min

MORE

Advertising

END ILLEGAL IMMIGRATION NOW!

SIGN THE PETITION

to tell your governor to enforce our nation's immigration law

 Judicial Watch

HOT CLICKS

KOAT Albuquerque

© 2015, Hearst Properties Inc. on behalf of KOAT-TV.

Site Map

DISCLOSURES

Privacy Policy

Terms of Use

Public Inspection File

SECTIONS

News

Weather

On TV

Auto Showcase

Albuquerque News

Auto

Marketplace

TV STATION

About KOAT

News Team

KOAT Jobs

Contact KOAT

Captioning Contacts

Advertise

SERVICES

Email Sign-Up

Mobile

Social

RSS

Video

PARTNERS

Hearst Television

Lakana

ABC

CNN

HEARST television inc

OLAKANA

CNN

WU WEATHER UNDERGROUND